ENFORCEMENT OF CIVIL LIABILITIES

The Company is a private limited liability company incorporated under the laws of Norway. As a result, the rights of holders of the Shares will be governed by Norwegian law and the Company's articles of association (the "Articles of Association"). The rights of shareholders under Norwegian law may differ from the rights of shareholders of companies incorporated in other jurisdictions.

Neither the members of the Company's board of directors (the "Board of Directors") nor the members of the Company's executive management (the "Management") are residents of the United States of America (the "United States"), and a majority of the Company's assets are located outside the United States. As a result, it may be difficult for investors in the United States to effect service of process on the Company, the members of the Board and the Management in the United States or to enforce judgments obtained in U.S. courts against the Company or those persons, whether predicated upon civil liability provisions of federal securities laws or other laws of the United States (including any State or territory within the United States).

The United States and Norway do not currently have a treaty providing for reciprocal recognition and enforcement of judgments (other than arbitral awards) in civil and commercial matters. Uncertainty exists as to whether courts in Norway will enforce judgments obtained in other jurisdictions, including the United States, against the Company or the members of the Board or the Management under the securities laws of those jurisdictions or entertain actions in Norway against the Company or the members of the Board or the Management under the securities laws of other jurisdictions. In addition, awards of punitive damages in actions brought in the United States or elsewhere may not be enforceable in Norway.

Similar restrictions may apply in other jurisdictions.

2 RISK FACTORS

2.1 Introduction

Investing in the Company involves inherent risks. Prospective investors should carefully consider, among other things, the risk factors set out in this Section before making an investment decision in respect of the Shares.

The below risk factors are only a summary of all risks applicable to the Company. A prospective investor should carefully consider all the risks related to the Company, and should consult his or her own expert advisors as to the suitability of an investment in securities of the Company. An investment in securities of the Company entails significant risks and is suitable only for investors who understand the risk factors associated with this type of investment and who can afford a loss of all or part of the investment. Against this background, an investor should thus make a careful assessment of the Company and its prospects before deciding to invest.

Additional risks and uncertainties that the Company currently believes are immaterial, or that are currently not known to the Company, may also have a material adverse effect on its business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flow. The order in which the risks are presented below is not intended to provide an indication of the likelihood of their occurrence nor of their severity or significance.

The information in this Section 2 is as of the date of this Information Document.

2.2 Risks associated with the Company and its operations

2.2.1 The Company was formed in March 2021 and its lack of operating history makes it difficult to assess the outlook for future revenues and other operating results

The Company was formed in connection with completion of the Transaction on 24 March 2021 (see Section 3.2.1). The Company's Vessel has not yet initiated any drilling activity and will not do so until the Vessel has been re-activated and the Company has obtained a contract with a customer for the Vessel. There can be no assurance that the Company will obtain a contract for the Vessel. The Company has no historical financial information relating to drilling activity upon which prospective investors can evaluate the Company's prior or likely future performance. Further, as a newly established company, there can be no assurance that the Company will be able to successfully execute its strategy or business plan.

2.2.2 The re-activation of the Vessel may be delayed and could result in cost overruns

Prior to the Vessel commencing operations under contract with a customer, the Vessel will have to be re-activated. Although the Company will use its best efforts to ensure a timely and on-budget re-activation, there is a risk of the re-activation process being delayed due to several factors outside of the control of the Company, including, but not limited to, weather conditions and the Covid-19 pandemic. The re-activation of the rig could also be delayed as a result of unexpected technical challenges during the re-activation process and supplies, parts and equipment required to re-activate the Vessel not being available or being delayed, as well as non-availability or delayed availability of subcontractors that are required to complete the reactivation. Any such delay could in turn result in delayed delivery under a contract for the Vessel with a customer which may, among others, result in the relevant customer not accepting the Vessel and/or liquidated damages or other fees being payable to the relevant customer by the Company, or the relevant customer having the right to terminate the contract for the Vessel. There is also a risk of the actual re-activation costs exceeding the Company's budgeted reactivation costs which could, among others, result in the Company requiring additional funding.

2.2.3 The Company is vulnerable in the event of a loss of revenue of the Vessel

The Company only has one drilling unit (the Vessel). If the Company is unable to secure contracts for the Vessel, the Company may idle or stack the Vessel. When idled or stacked, drilling units do not earn revenues, but continue to require cash expenditures for crews, fuel, insurance, berthing and associated items. If the Company is not able to obtain contracts for the Vessel, the Company's revenues and profitability is likely to be adversely affected.

2.2.4 The Company may not be able to obtain contracts for the Vessel

If the Company is not able to obtain contracts for the Vessel, the Company's revenues and profitability could be adversely affected.

The Company's fleet currently consists of one drill ships (the Vessel, see Section 3.2.1). Failure to secure contracts at satisfactory rates for the Vessel will affect its results more significantly than for a company with a larger fleet and may have a material adverse effect on the earnings and value of the Company.

2.2.5 There is uncertainty as to what day-rates the Vessel will achieve and as to the duration of any contracts obtained for the employment of the Vessel

The rates the Company will achieve for the Vessel, as well as the duration of contracts with customers, depend on a range of factors outside the control of the Company. Among others, an oversupply of drilling rigs in the market, increased competition from the Company's competitors, decreased oil and gas prices and a decline in drilling activities may result in lower than expected day-rates, and shorter contract durations, being achieved for the Vessel. Lower than expected day-rates and shorter contract durations may in turn result in the Company's revenues and profitability being adversely affected.

2.2.6 The Company is dependent on services from third parties and there is a risk that such service providers will not be able to perform and deliver the agreed services to the Company

The Company is and will continue to rely on services from third parties, in particular during the reactivation phase for the Vessel, including but not limited to technical and crewing services. While performance by such service providers is critical, and the Company will use its best efforts to select experienced and well-reputed service providers and monitor their performance, no assurances can be given in this respect. If third party service providers do not perform at the expected level, it may adversely affect the Company's business, financial results and condition.

2.2.7 The success of the Company's business depends on the level of activity in the offshore oil and gas industry

The Company's business depends on the level of oil and gas exploration, development and production in offshore areas worldwide that is influenced by oil and gas prices and market expectations of potential changes in these prices. Oil and gas prices are extremely volatile and are affected by numerous factors beyond the Company's control, including the following:

- i) worldwide production of and demand for oil and gas and geographical dislocations in supply and demand;
- ii) the cost of exploring for, developing, producing and delivering oil and gas;
- iii) expectations regarding future energy prices and production;
- iv) advances in exploration, development and production technology;
- v) the ability of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries ("OPEC"), to set and maintain levels of production and pricing;
- vi) the level of production in non-OPEC countries;
- vii) international sanctions on oil-producing countries, or the lifting of such sanctions;
- viii) government regulations, including restrictions on offshore transportation of oil and gas;
- ix) local and international political, economic and weather conditions;
- x) domestic and foreign tax policies;
- xi) the development and exploitation of alternative fuels and unconventional hydrocarbon production, including shale;
- xii) worldwide economic and financial problems and the corresponding decline in the demand for oil and gas and, consequently, the Company's services;
- xiii) the policies of various governments regarding exploration and development of their oil and gas reserves, accidents, severe weather, natural disasters and other similar incidents relating to the oil and gas industry; and

- xiv) the worldwide political and military environment, including uncertainty or instability resulting from an escalation or additional outbreak of armed hostilities or other crises in the Middle East, Eastern Europe or other geographic areas or further acts of terrorism in the United States, Europe or elsewhere.

Declines in oil and gas prices for an extended period of time, or market expectations of potential decreases in these prices, have negatively affected and could continue to negatively affect the Company's future performance.

Continued periods of low demand can cause excess rig supply and intensify competition in the industry in which the Company operates. This often results in drilling rigs, particularly older and less technologically-advanced drilling rigs, being idle for long periods of time. The Company cannot predict the future level of demand for drilling rigs or future conditions of the oil and gas industry with any degree of certainty. In response to the decrease in the prices of oil and gas, a number of oil and gas companies have announced significant decreases in budgeted expenditures for offshore drilling. Any future decrease in exploration, development or production expenditures by oil and gas companies could reduce the Company's revenues and materially harm its business.

2.2.8 The success and growth of the Company's business depends on the level of activity in the drilling industry

In addition to oil and gas prices, the offshore drilling industry is influenced by additional factors, which could reduce demand for the Company's services and adversely affect its business, including:

- i) the availability and quality of competing offshore drilling units;
- ii) the availability of debt financing on reasonable terms;
- iii) the level of costs for associated offshore oilfield and construction services;
- iv) oil and gas transportation costs;
- v) the level of drilling unit operating costs, including crew and maintenance;
- vi) the discovery of new oil and gas reserves;
- vii) the political and military environment of oil and gas reserve jurisdictions; and
- viii) regulatory restrictions on offshore drilling.

The offshore drilling industry is highly competitive and fragmented and includes several large companies that compete in the markets the Company serves. Offshore drilling contracts are generally awarded on a competitive bid basis or through privately negotiated transactions. In determining which qualified drilling contractor is awarded a contract, the key factors are pricing, drilling unit availability, drilling unit location, the condition and integrity of equipment, the drilling unit's and/or the drilling contractor's record of operating efficiency, including high operating uptime, technical specifications, safety performance record, crew experience, reputation, industry standing and customer relations. The Company's operations may be adversely affected if the Company's current competitors or new market entrants introduce new drilling units with better features, performance, prices or other characteristics compared to the Vessel (or any future drilling units of the Company), or expand into service areas where the Company operates.

Competitive pressures and other factors may result in significant price competition, particularly during industry downturns, which could have a material adverse effect on the Company's results of operations and financial condition.

2.2.9 The market value of the Vessel may decrease

The market values of drilling units have been trending lower as a result of the continued decline in the price of oil, which has impacted the spending plans of the Company's prospective customers. If the offshore contract drilling industry suffers further adverse developments in the future, the fair market value of the Company's current and future drilling units may decline. Notwithstanding the Vessel having a high specification and being a modern drilling rig, the fair market value of the Vessel, may increase or decrease depending on a number of factors, including:

- i) the general economic and market conditions affecting the offshore contract drilling industry, including competition from other offshore contract drilling companies;
- ii) the types, sizes and ages of drilling units;
- iii) the supply and demand for drilling units;
- iv) the costs of newbuild drilling units;
- v) the prevailing level of drilling services contract day rates;

- vi) government or other regulations; and
- vii) technological advances.

If drilling unit values fall significantly, the Company may have to record an impairment adjustment in its consolidated financial statements, which could adversely affect the Company's financial results and condition.

2.2.10 The international nature of the Company's operations involves additional risks including foreign government intervention in relevant markets

The Company expects to operate in various regions throughout the world. As a result of its international operations, the Company may be exposed to political and other uncertainties, particularly in less developed jurisdictions, including risks of the following, any of which could have a material adverse effect on the Company's results of operations and financial condition:

- i) Acts of piracy, which have historically affected ocean-going vessels;
- ii) significant governmental influence over many aspects of local economies;
- iii) the seizure, nationalization or expropriation of property or equipment;
- iv) uncertainty of outcome in foreign court proceedings;
- v) the repudiation, nullification, modification or renegotiation of contracts;
- vi) limitations on insurance coverage, such as war risk coverage, in certain areas;
- vii) political unrest;
- viii) foreign and U.S. monetary policy and foreign currency fluctuations and devaluations;
- ix) the inability to repatriate income or capital;
- x) complications associated with repairing and replacing equipment in remote locations;
- xi) import-export quotas, wage and price controls, and the imposition of trade barriers;
- xii) U.S. and foreign sanctions or trade embargoes;
- xiii) compliance with various jurisdictional regulatory or financial requirements;
- xiv) compliance with and changes to taxation;
- xv) other forms of government regulation and economic conditions that are beyond the Company's control; and
- xvi) government corruption.

2.2.11 A change in tax laws in any country in which the Company will operate could result in higher tax expense

The Company is expected to have operations worldwide. Tax laws, regulations and treaties are highly complex and subject to interpretation. Consequently, the Company may be subject to changing tax laws, regulations and treaties in and between the countries in which it operates, including any treaties between Norway (where the Company is incorporated) and Malta (where the Company is in the process of incorporating two subsidiaries, Deep Value Driller Holding Ltd. and Deep Value Driller Ltd.) and the United States and other nations. The Company's income tax expense will be based upon the Company's interpretation of the local tax laws, regulations, and international treaties in effect in various countries at the time that the expense is incurred.

A change in tax laws, regulations or treaties, including those in and involving the United States, Malta and Norway, or in the interpretation thereof, or in the valuation of any deferred tax assets, which is beyond the Company's control, could result in a materially higher tax expense or a higher effective tax rate on the Company's worldwide earnings.

Furthermore, the Company's income tax returns may be subject to local tax reviews. If tax authorities in any way challenge the Company's intercompany pricing policies and/or operating structures successfully, the Company's effective tax rate may increase considerably resulting in earnings and cash flow from operations being materially impacted.

2.2.12 The Company is expected to rely on a small number of customers

The Company's contract drilling business is expected to be subject to the risks associated with having a limited number of customers for the Company's services. In addition, mergers among oil and gas exploration and production companies have reduced, and may from time to time further reduce the number of available customers, which would increase the ability of potential customers to achieve pricing terms favourable to them. The Company's results of operations could be materially adversely affected if any of the Company's major customers fail to compensate it for the Company's services or take actions as outlined above.

The Company is subject to risks of loss resulting from non-payment or non-performance by the Company's customers and certain other third parties. Some of these customers and other parties may be highly leveraged and subject to their own operating and regulatory risks. If any key customers or other parties default on their obligations to the Company, the Company's financial results and condition could be adversely affected. Any material non-payment or non-performance by these entities, other key customers or certain other third parties could adversely affect other Company's financial position, results of operations and cash flows.

2.2.13 It is expected that the Company's drilling contracts will contain fixed terms and day-rates, and consequently the Company may not fully recoup its costs in the event of a rise in expenses, including operating and maintenance costs

The Company's operating costs will generally be related to the number of units in operation and the cost level in each country or region where the units are located. A significant portion of the Company's operating costs may be fixed over the short term.

Equipment maintenance costs fluctuate depending upon the type of activity that the Vessel is performing and the age and condition of the equipment. The Company's operating expenses and maintenance costs depend on a variety of factors, including crew costs, provisions, equipment, insurance, maintenance and repairs, and shipyard costs, many of which are beyond the Company's control.

2.2.14 The Company's insurance coverage may prove insufficient if a significant accident or other event occurs

The Company's insurance policies and contractual rights to indemnity may not adequately cover losses, and the Company does not have insurance coverage or rights to an indemnity for all risks. In addition, the Company's insurance coverage will not provide sufficient funds in all situations to protect the Company from all liabilities that could result from its operations, the amount of the Company's insurance cover may be less than the related impact on enterprise value after a loss, and the Company's coverage also includes policy limits. As a result, the Company retains the risk through self-insurance for any losses in excess of these limits. The Company may also decide to retain substantially more risk through self-insurance in the future.

Although it is the Company's policy to obtain contractual indemnities, it may not always be able to negotiate such provisions. Further, indemnities that the Company receives from clients may not be easily enforced and may be of limited value if the relevant clients do not have adequate resources to indemnify the Company.

No assurance can be made that the Company has, or will be able to maintain in the future, adequate insurance or indemnity against certain risks, and there is no assurance that such insurance or indemnification agreements will adequately protect the Company against liability from all of the consequences of the hazards and risks described above. The occurrence of a significant accident or other adverse event which is not fully covered by the Company's insurance or any enforceable or recoverable indemnity from a client could result in substantial losses for the Company and could materially adversely affect the Company's results of operations, cash flow and financial condition.

2.2.15 Alternative contracting structures may increase the Company's operational risk

Although it is the Company's intention to enter into contracts for the Vessel with its customers on bareboat charter terms which is likely to limit the Company's operational risk exposure (as further described in section 4.3 below), no assurance can be given that the Company will obtain contracts with the intended contracting structure. If the Company is not able to obtain contracts on bareboat charter terms or otherwise not in compliance with the intended contracting structure, the Company may have to consider alternative contracting structures, including contracts on time charter terms or joint venture arrangements. Such alternative contracting structure may expose the Company to a range of operational risks including, but not limited to, the risk of the Company not being able to obtain, maintain and/or renew permits necessary for the Vessel's operations, environmental risks, technical downtime of the Vessel and off-hire periods during which reduced or no hire is payable. Such operational risk could in turn adversely affect the Company's results of operations, cash flow and financial condition.

2.3 Risks associated with the Company's financial position

2.3.1 Risks associated with exchange rate fluctuation

The Company operates internationally and is exposed to fluctuations in NOK, USD, EUR and other currencies. Future variations in the exchange rates and the non-convertibility of currencies could have an impact on the Company's reported financial results.

2.3.2 The Company may require additional capital in the future, which may not be available

The Company may need to raise additional funds through debt or additional equity financings or other sources of financing. Adequate sources of capital funding may not be available when needed or may not be available on favourable terms or at all. The Company's ability to obtain such additional capital or financing will depend in part upon prevailing market conditions as well as conditions of its business and its operating results, and those factors may affect its efforts to arrange additional financing on satisfactory terms. If the Company raises additional funds by issuing additional shares or other equity or equity-linked securities, it may result in a dilution of the holdings of existing shareholders. If funding is insufficient at any time in the future, the Company may be unable to take advantage of business opportunities or respond to competitive pressures, any of which could adversely impact the Company's results of operations, cash flow and financial condition.

2.3.3 Future debt levels could limit the Company's flexibility to obtain additional financing and pursue other business opportunities

Although the Company does not currently plan to incur any significant debt, there can be no assurance that the Company will not incur significant additional indebtedness in the future. This level of debt could have important consequences to the Company, including the following:

- 1) the Company's ability to obtain additional financing for working capital, capital expenditures or other purposes may be impaired or such financing may be unavailable on favourable terms;
- 2) the Company's costs of borrowing could increase as it becomes more leveraged;
- 3) the Company may need to use a substantial portion of its cash from operations to make principal and interest payments on its debt, reducing the funds that would otherwise be available for operations, future business opportunities and any future dividends to its shareholders;
- 4) the Company's debt level could make it more vulnerable than its competitors with less debt to competitive pressures, a downturn in its business or the economy generally; and
- 5) the Company's debt level may limit its flexibility in responding to changing business and economic conditions.

The Company's ability to service its future debt will depend upon, among other things, its future financial and operating performance, which will be affected by prevailing economic conditions as well as financial, business, regulatory and other factors, some of which are beyond its control. If the Company's operating income is not sufficient to service its current or future indebtedness, the Company will be forced to take action such as reducing or delaying its business activities, investments or capital expenditures, selling assets, restructuring or refinancing its debt or seeking additional equity capital. The Company may not be able to effect any of these remedies on satisfactory terms, or at all.

2.4 Risks related to the Shares

2.4.1 There may not be an active and liquid market for the Shares and the Share price could fluctuate significantly

An investment in the Shares is associated with a high degree of risk and the price of the Shares may not develop favourably. Prior to the Admission to Trading, there has been no public market for the Shares, as the Shares have not been listed or admitted to trading on any, stock exchange, Regulated Market or multilateral trading facility, but only been traded on the N-OTC list. Following the Admission to Trading, an active or liquid trading market for the Shares may not develop or be sustained. If such market fails to develop or be sustained, it could have a negative impact on the price of the Shares. Investors may not be in a position to sell their shares quickly, at the market price or at all if there is no active trading in the Shares.

The share prices of companies admitted to trading on Euronext Growth Oslo can be highly volatile and the trading volume and price of the Shares could fluctuate significantly. Some of the factors that could negatively affect the Share price or result in fluctuations in the price or trading volume of the Shares include, for example, changes in the Company's actual or projected results of operations or those of its competitors, changes in earnings projections or failure to meet investors' and analysts' earnings expectations, investors' evaluations of the success and effects of the Company's strategy, as well as the evaluation of the related risks, changes in general economic conditions or the equities markets generally, changes in the industries in which the Company operates, changes in shareholders and other factors. This volatility has had a significant impact on the market price of securities issued by many companies. Those changes may occur without regard to the operating performance of these companies. The price of the Shares may therefore fluctuate due to factors that have little or nothing to do with the Company, and such fluctuations may materially affect the price of the Shares.

2.4.2 Future issuances of Shares or other securities could dilute the holdings of shareholders and could materially affect the price of the Shares

The Company may in the future decide to offer and issue new Shares or other securities in connection with unanticipated liabilities or expenses or for any other purposes. Depending on the structure of any future offering, certain existing shareholders may not have the ability to purchase additional equity securities. An issuance of additional equity securities or securities with rights to convert into equity could reduce the market price of the Shares and would dilute the economic and voting rights of the existing shareholders if made without granting subscription rights to existing shareholders. Accordingly, the Company's shareholders bear the risk of any future offerings reducing the market price of the Shares and/or diluting their shareholdings in the Company.

2.4.3 The Company is subject to the Euronext Growth Rule Book which may deviate from the regulations for securities trading on Oslo Børs and Euronext Expand, and which may imply a risk of a lower degree of transparency and minority protection

The Company is subject to the rules of the Market Abuse Regulation ((EU) No. 596/2014, MAR) and the Securities Trading Act applicable to securities admitted to trading on a multilateral trading facility and the Euronext Growth Rule Book. Such obligations may differ from the obligations imposed on companies whose securities are listed on Oslo Børs or Euronext Expand. The Company is not subject to any takeover regulations meaning that an acquirer may purchase a stake in the Shares exceeding the applicable thresholds for a mandatory offer for a company listed on Oslo Børs or Euronext Expand without triggering a mandatory offer for the remaining Shares. In accordance with Euronext Growth Rule Book Part I, section 4.3, and without prejudice to national regulations, the Company shall make public within five (5) trading days of becoming aware, any situation where a person, acting alone or in concert, reaches, exceeds or falls below a major holding threshold of fifty percent (50%) or ninety percent (90%) of the capital or voting rights. Furthermore, there is no other requirement to disclose large shareholdings in the Company (Nw.: flaggeplikt). These deviations from the regulations applicable to securities trading on Oslo Børs or Euronext Expand may, alone or together, impose a risk to transparency and the protection of minority shareholders. An investment in the Shares is suitable only for investors who understand the risk factors associated with an investment in a company admitted to trading on Euronext Growth Oslo.

2.4.4 Investors could be unable to recover losses in civil proceedings in jurisdictions other than Norway

The Company is a private limited company organized under the laws of Norway. A majority of the members of the Board of Directors and the Management reside in Norway. As a result, it may not be possible for investors to effect service of process in other jurisdictions upon such persons or the Company, to enforce against such persons or the Company judgments obtained in non-Norwegian courts, or to enforce judgments on such persons or the Company in other jurisdictions.

2.4.5 Norwegian law could limit shareholders' ability to bring an action against the Company

The rights of holders of the Shares are governed by Norwegian law and by the Articles of Association. These rights may differ from the rights of shareholders in other jurisdictions. In particular, Norwegian law limits the circumstances under which shareholders of Norwegian companies may bring derivative actions. For example, under Norwegian law, any action brought by the Company in respect of wrongful acts committed against the Company will be prioritized over actions brought by shareholders claiming compensation in respect of such acts. In addition, it could be difficult to prevail in a claim against the Company under, or to enforce liabilities predicated upon, securities laws in other jurisdictions.

2.4.6 Investors could be unable to exercise their voting rights for Shares registered in a nominee account

Beneficial owners of the Shares that are registered in a nominee account (such as through brokers, dealers or other third parties) could be unable to vote for such Shares unless their ownership is re-registered in their names with the Norwegian Central Securities Depository (VPS) prior to any general meeting of shareholders. There is no assurance that beneficial owners of the Shares will receive the notice of any general meeting of shareholders in time to instruct their nominees to either effect a re-registration of their Shares or otherwise vote for their Shares in the manner desired by such beneficial owners.

2.4.7 Pre-emptive rights to subscribe for Shares in additional issuances could be unavailable to U.S. or other shareholders

Under Norwegian law, unless otherwise resolved at the Company's general meeting of shareholders, existing shareholders have pre-emptive rights to participate on the basis of their existing ownership of Shares in the issuance of any new Shares for cash consideration. Shareholders in the United States, however, could be unable to exercise any such rights to subscribe for new Shares unless a registration statement under the U.S. Securities Act is in effect in respect of such rights and Shares or an exemption from the registration requirements under the U.S. Securities Act is available. Shareholders in other jurisdictions outside Norway could be similarly affected if the rights and the new Shares being offered have not been registered with, or approved by, the relevant authorities in such jurisdiction.

The Company is under no obligation to file a registration statement under the U.S. Securities Act or seek similar approvals under the laws of any other jurisdiction outside Norway in respect of any such rights and Shares. Doing so in the future could be impractical and costly. To the extent that the Company's shareholders are not able to exercise their rights to subscribe for new Shares, their proportional interests in the Company will be diluted.

2.4.8 The value of the Shares could for foreign investors be adversely affected by exchange rate fluctuations

The Shares on Euronext Growth Oslo will be priced in NOK, and any future payments of dividends on the Shares will be made in NOK. Investors registered in the VPS who have not supplied the VPS with details of their bank account, will not receive payment of dividends unless they register their bank account details with the VPS Registrar. The exchange rate(s) that is applied when denominating any future payments of dividends to the relevant investor's currency will be the VPS Registrar's exchange rate on the payment date. Exchange rate movements of NOK will therefore affect the value of these dividends and distributions for investors whose principal currency is not NOK. Further, the market value of the Shares as expressed in foreign currencies will fluctuate in part as a result of foreign exchange fluctuations. This could affect the value of the Shares and of any dividends paid on the Shares for an investor whose principal currency is not NOK.

4.2 Group structure

The Company is in the process of establishing two wholly owned Malta subsidiaries, one Malta holding company (Deep Value Driller Holding Ltd.) and another Malta subsidiary that is intended to own the Vessel (Deep Value Driller Ltd.). The drop down of the Vessel from the Company to Deep Value Driller Ltd is expected to be completed in Q2 2021. At the time of this Information Document, the subsidiaries have not yet been incorporated.

4.3 Principal activities

The Company operates within the offshore contract drilling services market and currently owns one drillship, the UDW capable modern 7th generation drillship Deep Value Driller delivered in 2014 (the "Vessel"). It is the Company's strategy and target to secure contracts for the Vessel with top-tier drilling contractors on a bareboat basis on "hell or high water" terms. The intended contracting structure will limit the Company's exposure to operational risks in relation to the Vessel to a great extent. The Vessel will be contract to customers and the expected duration of the contracts to be secured for the Vessel is two to five years. The Vessel is currently warm-stacked quayside at a yard in Norway and will be re-activated prior to commencing operations under a customer contract.

The Vessel has been classed with DNV since it was delivered in 2014 and DNV remains the classification society as at the date of this Information Document. The Vessel is classed as a ship-shaped drilling unit with the operational status being "laid-up". The Vessel's class notation is: Σ 1A1 Ship-shaped Drilling unit BIS Clean COAT-PSPC(B) Crane-offshore DRILL(US) DYNPOS(AUTRO) E0 HELDK(S, H).

As part of its strategy, the Company has a mission to create value for its customers and investors through safe and sustainable operation of the Vessel with minimal impact on the environment. The Company's Board of Directors and Management is made up of highly experienced industry professionals with long track-records and a substantial network in the industry which will further contribute to the Company achieving its strategy and vision.

4.6 Principal markets

4.6.1 Overview

The Company operates within the offshore contract drilling services market which constitutes a part of the international oil and gas service industry. The fundamental driver of oil and gas drilling activity is oil companies' investments in exploration, development and production of crude oil and natural gas. The global offshore drilling market is cyclical where the drilling operators' operating results are directly linked to oil and gas companies' regional and worldwide levels of offshore exploration and development spending. Offshore exploration and development spending may fluctuate from year-to-year and from region-to-region depending on several factors, including amongst others:

- General worldwide economic activity;
- Worldwide supply and demand for natural gas products and crude oil;
- Oil and gas operators' expectations regarding crude oil and natural gas prices;
- Disruption to exploration and development activities due to severe weather conditions;
- Anticipated production levels and inventory levels;
- Political, social and legislative environments in major oil and gas producing regions; Regional and global economic conditions and changes therein; and The attractiveness of the underlying geographical prospects, in both specific fields and geographic locations.

Oil and gas prices are volatile, which has historically led to significant fluctuations in expenditures by the Company's expected customers for drilling services. Variations in market conditions during cycles are estimated to impact the Company in different ways, depending primarily on the length of drilling contracts in different regions. Contracts in deepwater for drillships tend to be longer term, so a change in market conditions tends to have a delayed impact. Accordingly, short-term changes in these markets may have a minimal short-term impact on revenues and cash flows of the Company, unless the timing of contract renewals coincides with short-term movements in the market.

Offshore drilling contracts are generally awarded on a competitive bid basis. In determining which qualified drilling contractor is awarded a contract the key factors are pricing, technical specification, and equipment onboard, rig availability and sustainability, rig location, condition of equipment, operating integrity, safety performance record, crew experience, reputation, industry standing and client relations. Furthermore, competition for offshore drilling rigs is generally on a global basis, as rigs are highly mobile. However, the cost associated with mobilizing rigs between regions is sometimes substantial, as entering a new region or take work for a new client could necessitate upgrades of the unit and its equipment to specific regional and client requirements.

The Company believes that the market for drilling contracts will continue to be highly competitive for the foreseeable future.

4.6.2 The contract drilling market – key segments

According to IHS Petrodata (8 April 2021) the worldwide fleet of mobile offshore drilling units ("MODU") totals 716 delivered units. This market is commonly divided into segments based on rig type and capabilities with respect to water depths and geographical area of operation. There are three main types of mobile offshore drilling units: semi-submersibles, drillships and jack-ups, and four water depth categories: shallow water (0 to 500 feet), midwater (500 to 4,500 feet), deepwater (4,500 to 7,500 feet) and ultra-deepwater ("UDW", 7,500 feet and more). MODUs are also designated either for harsh environment or benign environment, according to the geographical segment in which they are designed to operate. MODUs are generally marketed on a worldwide basis and are transported between locations through the use of built-in propulsion systems, towage or heavy lift vessels. In recent years, a large influx of newbuild MODUs have entered the market, especially within the jack-up and drillship segments, while it has been seen fewer semisubmersibles units being delivered recently. MODUs are also classified in categories such as generation, high/low specification and more.

The Company owns one rig, a modern drillship delivered in 2014 (the Vessel). Drillships are ships with an on-board propulsion system, often based on a conventional ship hull design but in addition equipped with full drilling equipment similar to that on semi-submersible rigs. Drillships are often constructed for drilling in deep water, as deepwater and ultra-deepwater location are typically far from shore and drillships normally have higher load capacity and better mobility than the other MODU types. Drilling operations are conducted through openings in the hull (moon pools), and like semisubmersible rigs, drillships can be equipped with conventional mooring systems or DP systems. Drillships operate in both the midwater-, deepwater- and ultra-deepwater areas globally, depending on what the specific rig is dimensioned and equipped for. However, drillships are often preferred in deepwater and ultra-deepwater areas with benign environment, such as Brazil, West Africa, and the US Gulf of Mexico. The global drillship fleet consists 93 units, in addition to 18 units currently under construction. The Company believes there is uncertainty relating to delivery and timing for some drillships currently in the order book. Of the global fleet of 93 units, 60 are contracted.

4.6.3 Ultra-deepwater segment

Ultra-deepwater (UDW) market refers to drilling operations conducted by drillships or semi-submersibles at water depths beginning at 7,500 feet and extending to the maximum water depths in which rigs are capable for drilling, which is currently 12,000 feet. As the date of this Information Document, the Company owns one UDW capable drillship currently idle (the Vessel). The Vessel is designed for drilling operations up to 12,000 feet water depth.

Number of rigs

Source: IHS Petrodata

The global UDW fleet consists of 140 delivered rigs, of which 51 semisubmersibles and 89 drillships. As there is uncertainty relating to some of the rigs on order, the Company believes that the real order book for UDW capable rigs currently consists of less than 10 rigs, versus the 18 rigs in the order book. Of the current fleet, and as a result of significant fleet expansion on the back of expectations of a surge in demand for drilling at ultra-deep water depths, around 70% of the fleet is delivered over the last 10 years. Drillships have been the preferred rig type over semisubmersibles for UDW operations due to, amongst other factors, the drillships superior flexibility in moving from location to location. This makes drillships more suited for exploration drilling, and many exploration & production ("E&P") operators were heavily focused on exploration drilling during the years prior to the oil price collapse.

Pct.

Source: IHS Petrodata

Note: "Total" incl. rigs not currently marketed for new contracts / cold stacked

The demand for UDW rigs saw a sharp decline post the oil price downturn in 2014, as E&P companies cut back on capital expenditure and frontier exploration drilling to focus on cost and operations. Today, 87 UDW rigs of the total fleet of 140 are contracted, implying total utilisation of 62%. Adjusting for 32 non-marketed UDW rigs, marketed utilisation is 81%.

Numbers in USD 1,000/day

Source: IHS Petrodata

UDW day rates have been on a downwards trend following a weak UDW supply/demand balance. Currently, day rates for high-spec UDW rigs are generally around the USD 180,000 - 240,000 range for both short-term and long-term jobs. After trending lower for the past few years, the daily operating cost for a UDW rig is typically around the USD 130,000 - 140,000 range, depending on region, implying current day rates at a breakeven level. Despite the recent UDW down-cycle, with the recent oil price increase and improving COVID-19 situation, increasing contracting activity and a preference for the highest specification drillships among E&P companies, the outlook for the most capable UDW floaters is increasingly favourable.

4.7 Material contracts, significant patents etc.

4.7.1 Material contracts

Other than as set out below, during the period from the Company's incorporation to the date of this Information Document, the Company has not entered any material agreements or agreements containing rights or obligations of material importance to the Company, apart from agreements entered into as part of the Company's ordinary course of business:

- 2) On 5 March 2021, the Company entered into an agreement with Dolphin Drilling Ltd. for the acquisition of the operating and maintenance systems for the Vessel for a total consideration of USD 3.5 million.

It is the Company's opinion that the Company's existing business and profitability are not dependent upon any single contracts, save for any contracts that will be entered into with customers of the Company for the chartering of the Vessel as further described in Section 4.3 above.

Pursuant to the loan agreement, Solan Capital AS was entitled to a commission of NOK 99,999 for the borrowing. The borrowing and the commission were settled by the Company on 17 March 2021 in relation to completion of the Private Placement (see Section 7.3 below).
- 2) On 25 March 2021, the Company entered into an agreement with Tarraco AS, a company wholly-owned by CEO Svend Anton Maier, under which Mr. Maier for a preliminary period from 15 March 2021 and until the operating subsidiary, Deep Value Driller Ltd, has been established and Mr. Maier has been employed as CEO by such company, is to perform executive services as CEO and be responsible for the day-to-day management of the Company. As compensation, Tarraco AS is entitled to an amount of USD 50,000 exclusive of VAT per month. Furthermore, the agreement states that the employment agreement later to be entered into between Deep Value Driller Ltd. and Mr. Maier is to include provisions on a one-time payment equivalent to six times the agreed monthly compensation if Mr. Maier obtains a chartering contract for the Vessel within the requirements set by the Board.

- a) Enable other investors to take part in the Company's potential value creation;
- b) further enhance the Company's profile with investors, business partners and customers;
- c) provide access to the capital markets; and
- d) allow for a liquid market for the Shares going forward.

The Private Placement was completed prior to the Admission to Trading. No other equity capital or proceeds will be raised by the Company in connection with the Admission to Trading.

7.3.3 Use of proceeds

The net proceeds from the Private Placement have been used as payment in connection with the Transaction), and will be used for stacking of the drillship and general corporate purposes.

In addition, the gross proceeds from the Private Placement has been used to cover relevant transaction costs incurred in connection with the Private Placement and the Transaction.

7.3.4 Lock-up

The Company, the members of the Management and the Board of Directors, as well as the Founding Investors have entered into customary lock-up arrangements with DNB Markets, subject to certain exemptions, for a period of 6 months after the Admission To Trading.

7.4 Dividend and dividend policy

7.4.1 Dividends policy

The Company's ambition is to return most of its ordinary net income (adjusted for extraordinary items) through dividend payments to its shareholders, as soon as it considers itself to be in a position to do so and it is deemed to be in the common interest of the Company and its shareholders. However, there can be no assurances that a dividend will be proposed or declared in any given year or period or, if proposed or declared, that the dividend will be as contemplated by the above.

In deciding whether to propose a dividend and in determining the dividend amount, the Board of Directors will take into account legal restrictions as set out in Section 7.4.2 below, as well as the Company's capital requirements, including capital expenditure requirements, its financial condition, general business conditions and maintaining the appropriate financial and strategic flexibility.

The Company has not paid any dividends on its Shares since its incorporation.

7.4.2 Legal and contractual constraints on the distribution of dividends

In deciding whether to propose a dividend and in determining the dividend amount in the future, the Board of Directors must take into account applicable legal restrictions, as set out in the Norwegian Private Companies Act, the Company's capital requirements, including capital expenditure requirements, its financial condition, general business conditions and any restrictions that its contractual arrangements in force at the time of the dividend may place on its ability to pay dividends and the maintenance of appropriate financial flexibility. Except in certain specific and limited circumstances set out in the Norwegian Private Companies Act, the amount of dividends paid may not exceed the amount recommended by the Board of Directors.

Dividends may be paid in cash or in some instances in kind. The Norwegian Private Companies Act provides the following constraints on the distribution of dividends applicable to the Company:

- c) Section 8-1 of the Norwegian Private Companies Act regulates what may be distributed as dividend, and provides that the Company may distribute dividends only to the extent that the Company after said distribution still has net assets to cover (i) the share capital and (ii) other restricted equity (i.e. the reserve for unrealized gains and the reserve for valuation of differences).
- d) The calculation of the distributable equity shall be made on the basis of the balance sheet included in the approved annual accounts for the last financial year, provided, however, that the registered share capital as of the date of the resolution to distribute dividend shall be applied. Following the approval of the annual accounts for the last financial year, the general meeting may also authorize the Board of Directors to declare dividends on the basis of the Company's annual accounts. Dividends may also be resolved by the general meeting based on an interim balance sheet which has been prepared and audited in accordance with the provisions applying to the annual accounts and with a balance sheet date not further into the past than six months before the date of the general meeting's resolution.
- e) Dividends can only be distributed to the extent that the Company's equity and liquidity following the distribution is considered sound.

Pursuant to the Norwegian Private Companies Act, the time when an entitlement to dividend arises depends on what was resolved by the general meeting when it resolved to issue new shares in the company. A subscriber of new shares in a Norwegian private limited company will normally be entitled to dividends from the time when the relevant share capital increase is registered with the Norwegian Register of Business Enterprises. The Norwegian Private Companies Act does not provide for any time limit after which entitlement to dividends lapses. Subject to various exceptions, Norwegian law provides a limitation period of three years from the date on which an obligation is due. There are no dividend restrictions or specific procedures for non-Norwegian resident shareholders to claim dividends. For a description of withholding tax on dividends applicable to non-Norwegian residents, see Section 8 "Norwegian taxation".

7.4.3 Manner of dividend payments

Any future payments of dividends on the Shares will be denominated in the currency of the bank account of the relevant shareholder, and will be paid to the shareholders through the VPS Registrar. Shareholders registered in the VPS who have not supplied the VPS Registrar with details of their bank account, will not receive payment of dividends unless they register their bank account details with the VPS Registrar. The exchange rate(s) that is applied when denominating any future payments of dividends to the relevant shareholder's currency will be the VPS Registrar's exchange rate on the payment date. Dividends will be credited automatically to the VPS registered shareholders' accounts, or in lieu of such registered account, at the time when the shareholder has provided the VPS Registrar with their bank account details. Shareholders' right to payment of dividend will lapse three years following the resolved payment date for those shareholders who have not registered their bank account details with the VPS Registrar within such date. Following the expiry of such date, the remaining, not distributed dividend will be returned from the VPS Registrar to the Company.

7.5 The Articles of Association

The Articles of Association are enclosed in Appendix A to the Information Document, a summary of which is given below:

7.5.1 Objective of the Company

The Company's business is to purchase, operate and invest in drill ships, as well as provide services and engage in activities naturally related thereto, including investments and participation in other companies.

7.5.2 Share capital and par value of each Share

The Company's share capital is NOK 8,630,000, divided into 86,300,000 Shares, each with a par value of NOK 0.10.

7.5.3 Restrictions on transfer of Shares

Other than the lock-up as described in Section 7.3.4 above, there are no restrictions on transfer of the Shares.

7.6 Certain aspects of Norwegian corporate law

7.6.1 General meetings

Through the general meeting, shareholders exercise supreme authority in a Norwegian private limited liability company. The date for the first annual general shareholder meeting following the Admission to Trading is not set. However, in accordance with Norwegian law, the annual general meeting of shareholders is required to be held each year on or prior to 30 June. Norwegian law requires that a written notice of annual general meetings setting forth the time of, the venue for and the agenda of the meeting is sent to all shareholders with a known address no later than seven days before the annual general meeting of a Norwegian private limited liability company shall be held, unless the articles of association stipulate a longer deadline, which is not currently the case for the Company.

A shareholder may vote at the general meeting either in person or by proxy (the proxy holder is appointed at their own discretion). Although Norwegian law does not require the Company to send proxy forms to its shareholders for general meetings, the Company plans to include a proxy form with notices of general meetings. All of the Company's shareholders who are registered in the shareholders' register kept and maintained with VPS as of the date of the general meeting, or who otherwise have reported and documented ownership of shares in the Company, are entitled to participate at general meetings, without any requirement of pre-registration.

Apart from the annual general meeting, extraordinary general meetings of shareholders may be held if the board of directors considers it necessary. An extraordinary general meeting of shareholders shall also be convened if, in order to discuss a specified matter, the auditor or shareholders representing at least 10% of the share capital demands such in writing. The requirements for notice and admission to the annual general meeting also apply to extraordinary general meetings.

7.6.2 Voting rights – amendments to the articles of association

Each Share carries one vote. In general, decisions shareholders are entitled to make under Norwegian law or the articles of association may be made by a simple majority of the votes cast. In the case of elections or appointments (e.g. to the board of directors), the person(s) who receive(s) the greatest number of votes cast is elected. However, as required under Norwegian law, certain decisions, including resolutions to waive preferential rights to subscribe or shares in connection with any share issue in the Company, to approve a merger or demerger of the Company, to amend the articles of association, to authorize an increase or reduction of the share capital, to authorize an issuance of convertible loans or warrants by the Company or to authorize the Board of Directors to purchase Shares and hold them as treasury shares or to dissolve the Company, must receive the approval of at least two-thirds of the aggregate number of votes cast as well as at least two-thirds of the share capital represented at the general meeting in question. Moreover, Norwegian law requires that certain decisions, i.e. decisions that have the effect of substantially altering the rights and preferences of any shares or class of shares, receive the approval by the holders of such shares or class of shares as well as the majority required for amending the articles of association.

Decisions that (i) would reduce the rights of some or all of the Company's shareholders in respect of dividend payments or other rights to assets or (ii) restrict the transferability of the Shares, require that at least 90% of the share capital represented at the general meeting in question vote in favor of the resolution, as well as the majority required for amending the articles of association.

In general, only a shareholder registered in VPS is entitled to vote for such Shares. Beneficial owners of the Shares that are registered in the name of a nominee are generally not entitled to vote under Norwegian law, nor is any person who is designated in the VPS register as the holder of such Shares as nominees.

There are no quorum requirements that apply to the general meetings.

7.6.3 Additional issuances and preferential rights

If the Company issues any new Shares, including bonus share issues, the Company's articles of association must be amended, which requires the same vote as other amendments to the articles of association. In addition, under Norwegian law, the Company's shareholders have a preferential right to subscribe for new Shares issued by the Company. The preferential rights may be deviated from by a resolution in the general meeting passed with the same vote required to amend the articles of association. A deviation of the shareholders' preferential rights in respect of bonus issues requires the approval of all outstanding Shares.

The general meeting may, by the same vote as is required for amending the articles of association, authorize the board of directors to issue new Shares, and to deviate from the preferential rights of shareholders in connection with such issuances. Such authorisation may be effective for a maximum of two years, and the nominal value of the Shares to be issued may not exceed 50% of the registered par share capital when the authorisation is registered with the Norwegian Register of Business Enterprises.

Under Norwegian law, the Company may increase its share capital by a bonus share issue, subject to approval by the Company's shareholders, by transfer from the Company's distributable equity or from the Company's share premium reserve and thus the share capital increase does not require any payment of a subscription price by the shareholders. Any bonus issues may be affected either by issuing new shares to the Company's existing shareholders or by increasing the nominal value of the Company's outstanding Shares.

Issuance of new Shares to shareholders who are citizens or residents of the United States and other jurisdictions upon the exercise of preferential rights may require the Company to file a registration statement or prospectus in the United States under United States securities laws or in such other jurisdictions under the laws of such jurisdictions. Should the Company in such a situation decide not to file a registration statement or prospectus, the Company's U.S. shareholders and shareholders in such other jurisdictions may not be able to exercise their preferential rights. To the extent that shareholders are not able to exercise their rights to subscribe for new shares, the value of their subscription rights will be lost and such shareholders' proportional ownership interests in the Company will be reduced.

7.6.4 Minority rights

Norwegian law sets forth a number of protections for minority shareholders of the Company, including, but not limited to, those described in this paragraph and the description of general meetings as set out above. Any of the Company's shareholders may petition Norwegian courts to have a decision of the board of directors or the Company's shareholders made at the general meeting declared invalid on the grounds that it unreasonably favours certain shareholders or third parties to the detriment of other shareholders or the Company itself. The Company's shareholders may also petition the courts to dissolve the Company as a result of such decisions to the extent particularly strong reasons are considered by the court to make necessary dissolution of the Company.

Minority shareholders holding 10% or more of the Company's share capital have a right to demand in writing that the Board of Directors convenes an extraordinary general meeting to discuss or resolve specific matters. In addition, any of the Company's shareholders may in writing demand that the Company place an item on the agenda for any general meeting as long as the Company is notified in time for such item to be included in the notice of the meeting. If the notice has been issued when such a written demand is presented, a renewed notice must be issued if the deadline for issuing notice of the general meeting has not expired.

7.6.5 Rights of redemption and repurchase of shares

The share capital of the Company may be reduced by reducing the nominal value of the Shares or by cancelling Shares. Such a decision requires the approval of at least two-thirds of the aggregate number of votes cast and at least two-thirds of the share capital represented at a general meeting. Redemption of individual Shares requires the consent of the holders of the Shares to be redeemed.

The Company may purchase its own Shares provided that the Board of Directors has been granted an authorisation to do so by a general meeting with the approval of at least two-thirds of the aggregate number of votes cast and at least two-thirds of the share capital represented at the meeting. The aggregate nominal value of treasury shares so acquired, and held by the Company must not lead to the share capital with deduction of the aggregate nominal of the holding of own shares is less than the minimum allowed share capital of NOK 30,000, and treasury shares may only be acquired if the Company's distributable equity, according to the latest adopted balance sheet, exceeds the consideration to be paid for the shares. The authorisation by the general meeting of the Company's shareholders cannot be granted for a period exceeding two years.

7.6.6 Shareholder vote on certain reorganisations

A decision of the Company's shareholders to merge with another company or to demerge requires a resolution by the general meeting passed by at least two-thirds of the aggregate votes cast and at least two-thirds of the share capital represented at the general meeting. A merger plan, or demerger plan signed by the board of directors along with certain other required documentation, would have to be sent to all the Company's shareholders, or if the articles of association stipulate that, made available to the shareholders on the Company's website, at least two weeks prior to the general meeting to pass upon the matter.

7.6.7 Liability of board members

Board members owe a fiduciary duty to the Company and its shareholders. Such fiduciary duty requires that the board members act in the best interests of the Company when exercising their functions and exercise a general duty of loyalty and care towards the Company. Their principal task is to safeguard the interests of the Company.

Board members may each be held liable for any damage they negligently or wilfully cause the Company. Norwegian law permits the general meeting to discharge any such person from liability, but such discharge is not binding on the Company if substantially correct and complete information was not provided at the general meeting passing upon the matter. If a resolution to discharge the Board Members from liability or not to pursue claims against such a person has been passed by a general meeting with a smaller majority than that required to amend the articles of association, shareholders representing more than 10% of the share capital or, if there are more than 100 shareholders, more than 10% of the shareholders may pursue the claim on the Company's behalf and in its name. The cost of any such action is not the Company's responsibility but can be recovered from any proceeds the Company receives as a result of the action. If the decision to discharge any of the Board Members from liability or not to pursue claims against the Board Members is made by such a majority as is necessary to amend the articles of association, the minority shareholders of the Company cannot pursue such claim in the Company's name.

7.6.8 Indemnification of board members

Neither Norwegian law nor the Articles of Association contain any provision concerning indemnification by the Company of the Board of Directors. The Company is permitted to purchase insurance for the Board members against certain liabilities that they may incur in their capacity as such.

7.6.9 Distribution of assets on liquidation

Under Norwegian law, the Company may be wound-up by a resolution of the Company's shareholders at the general meeting passed by at least two-thirds of the aggregate votes cast and at least two-thirds of the share capital represented at the meeting. In the event of liquidation, the Shares rank equally in the event of a return on capital.

7.7 Takeover bids and forced transfer of shares

The Company is not subject to the takeover regulations, applicable only to companies with shares listed on a Norwegian Regulated Market, set out in the Norwegian Securities Trading Act, or otherwise.

The Shares are, however, subject to the provisions on compulsory transfer of shares as set out in the Norwegian Private Companies Act. If a private limited liability company alone, or through subsidiaries, owns 9/10 or more of the shares in the subsidiary, and may exercise a corresponding part of the votes that may be cast in the general meeting, the board of directors of the parent company may resolve that the parent company shall take over the remaining shares in the company. Each of the other shareholders in the subsidiary have the right to require the parent company to take over the shares. The parent company shall give the shareholders a redemption offer pursuant to the provisions of the Norwegian Private Companies Act. The redemption amount will in the absence of agreement or acceptance of the offer be fixed by a discretionary valuation.

7.8 Insider trading

According to the Market Abuse Regulation ((EU) No. 596/2014, "MAR"), as implemented through the Norwegian Securities Trading Act, subscription for, purchase, sale or exchange of financial instruments that are admitted to trading, or subject to an application for admission to trading on a Norwegian Regulated Market or a Norwegian Multilateral Trading Facility, or incitement to such dispositions, must not be undertaken by anyone who has inside information. Inside information is defined in Article 7(1)(a) of the MAR and refers to precise information about financial instruments issued by the Company admitted to trading, about the Company admitted trading itself or about other circumstances which are likely to have a noticeable effect on the price of financial instruments issued by the Company admitted to trading or related to financial instruments issued by the Company admitted to trading, and which is not publicly available or commonly known in the market. Information that is likely to have a noticeable effect on the price shall be understood to mean information that a rational investor would probably make use of as part of the basis for his investment decision. The same applies to the entry into, purchase, sale or exchange of options or futures/forward contracts or equivalent rights whose value is connected to such financial instruments or incitement to such dispositions. Breach of insider trading obligations may be sanctioned and lead to criminal charges.

8 NORWEGIAN TAXATION

This Section describes certain tax rules in Norway applicable to shareholders who are resident in Norway for tax purposes ("Norwegian Shareholders") and to shareholders who are not resident in Norway for tax purposes ("Foreign Shareholders"). The statements herein regarding taxation are based on the laws in force in Norway as of the date of this Information Document and are subject to any changes in law occurring after such date. Such changes could possibly be made on a retrospective basis. The following summary does not purport to be a comprehensive description of all the tax considerations that may be relevant to a decision to purchase, own or dispose of the Shares. Investors are advised to consult their own tax advisors concerning the overall tax consequences of their ownership of Shares. The statements only apply to shareholders who are beneficial owners of Shares. Please note that for the purpose of the summary below, references to Norwegian Shareholders or Foreign Shareholders refers to the tax residency rather than the nationality of the shareholder.

8.1 Norwegian shareholders

8.1.1 Taxation of dividends

Norwegian corporate shareholders (i.e. limited liability companies and similar entities) ("Norwegian Corporate Shareholders") are comprised by the Norwegian participation exemption. Under the exemption, only 3% of dividend income on shares in Norwegian limited liability companies is subject to tax as ordinary income (22% flat rate as of 2021), implying that such dividends are effectively taxed at a rate of 0.66%.

Dividends distributed to Norwegian individual shareholders (i.e. other shareholders than Norwegian Corporate Shareholders) ("Norwegian Individual Shareholders") are grossed up with a factor of 1.44 before taxed as ordinary income (22% flat rate, resulting in an effective tax rate of 31.68%) to the extent the dividend exceeds a tax-free allowance.

The tax-free allowance is calculated on a share-by-share basis for each individual shareholder on the basis of the cost price of each of the Shares multiplied by a risk-free interest rate. The risk-free interest rate is based on the effective rate of interest on treasury bills (Nw.: statskasseveksler) with three months maturity plus 0.5 percentage points, after tax. The tax-free allowance is calculated for each calendar year and is allocated solely to Norwegian Individual Shareholders holding Shares at the expiration of the relevant calendar year. Norwegian Individual Shareholders who transfer Shares will thus not be entitled to deduct any calculated allowance related to the year of transfer. Any part of the calculated tax-free allowance one year exceeding the dividend distributed on the Share ("unused allowance") may be carried forward and set off against future dividends received on (or gains upon realisation of, see below) the same Share. Any unused allowance will also be added to the basis of computation of the tax-free allowance on the same Share the following year.

The Shares will not qualify for Norwegian share saving accounts (Nw.: aksjesparekonto) for Norwegian Individual Shareholders as the Shares are listed on the Euronext Growth Oslo (and not Oslo Børs/Euronext Expand).

8.1.2 Taxation of capital gains

Sale, redemption or other disposal of Shares is considered as a realisation for Norwegian tax purposes.

Capital gains generated by Norwegian Corporate Shareholders through a realisation of shares in Norwegian limited liability companies, such as the Company, are comprised by the Norwegian participation exemption and therefore tax exempt. Net losses from realisation of Shares and costs incurred in connection with the purchase and realisation of such Shares are not tax deductible for Norwegian Corporate Shareholders.

Norwegian Individual Shareholders are taxable in Norway for capital gains derived from realisation of Shares, and have a corresponding right to deduct losses. This applies irrespective of how long the Shares have been owned by the individual shareholder and irrespective of how many Shares that are realized. Gains are taxable as ordinary income in the year of realisation and losses can be deducted from ordinary income in the year of realisation. Any gain or loss is grossed up with a factor of 1.44 before taxed at a rate of 22% (resulting in an effective tax rate of 31.68%). Gain or loss is calculated per Share, as the difference between the consideration received for the Share and the Norwegian Individual Shareholder's cost price for the Share, including costs incurred in connection with the acquisition or realisation of the Share. Any unused tax-free allowance connected to a Share may be deducted from a capital gain on the same Share, but may not lead to or increase a deductible loss. Further, unused tax-free allowance related to a Share cannot be set off against gains from realisation of other Shares.

If a Norwegian shareholder realizes Shares acquired at different points in time, the Shares that were first acquired will be deemed as first sold (the "first in first out"-principle) upon calculating taxable gain or loss. Costs incurred in connection with the purchase and sale of Shares may be deducted in the year of sale.

A shareholder who ceases to be tax resident in Norway due to domestic law or tax treaty provisions may become subject to Norwegian exit taxation of capital gains related to shares in certain circumstances.

8.1.3 Net wealth tax

The value of Shares is taken into account for net wealth tax purposes in Norway. The marginal net wealth tax rate is currently 0.85% of the value assessed. The value for assessment purposes for the Shares is equal to 55% of the total tax value of the Company as of 1 January of the year before the tax assessment year. However, if the share capital in the Company has been increased or reduced by payment from or to shareholders in the year before the tax assessment year, the value for assessment purposes for the Shares is equal to 55% of the total tax value of the Company as of 1 January of the tax assessment year. The value of debt allocated to the Shares (a proportional part of the shareholder's total debt) for Norwegian wealth tax purposes is reduced correspondingly (i.e. to 55%).

Norwegian limited liability companies and similar entities are exempted from net wealth tax.

8.2 Foreign Shareholders

8.2.1 Taxation of dividends

Dividends paid from a Norwegian limited liability company to Foreign Shareholders are subject to Norwegian withholding tax at a rate of 25% unless the recipient qualifies for a reduced rate according to an applicable tax treaty or other specific regulations. The shareholder's country of residence may give credit for the Norwegian withholding tax imposed on the dividend.

If a Foreign Shareholder is carrying on business activities in Norway and the Shares are effectively connected with such activities, the Foreign Shareholder will be subject to the same taxation of dividend as a Norwegian Shareholder, as described above.

Foreign Shareholders that are corporate shareholders (i.e. limited liability companies and similar entities) ("Foreign Corporate Shareholders") resident within the EEA are exempt from Norwegian withholding tax pursuant to the Norwegian participation exemption provided that the Foreign Corporate Shareholder is genuinely established and carries out genuine economic activities within the EEA.

Dividends paid to Foreign Shareholders that are individual shareholders (i.e. other shareholders than Foreign Corporate Shareholders) ("Foreign Individual Shareholders") are as the main rule subject to Norwegian withholding tax at a rate of 25%, unless a lower rate has been agreed in an applicable tax treaty. If the individual shareholder is resident within the EEA, the shareholder may apply to the tax authorities for a refund of an amount corresponding to the calculated tax-free allowance on each individual share, see Section 8.1.1 "Taxation of dividends". However, the deduction for the tax-free allowance does not apply in the event that the withholding tax rate, pursuant to an applicable tax treaty, leads to a lower taxation on the dividends than the withholding tax rate of 25% less the tax-free allowance.

In accordance with the present administrative system in Norway, a distributing company will generally deduct withholding tax at the applicable rate when dividends are paid directly to an eligible Foreign Shareholder, based on information registered with the VPS. Foreign Corporate and Individual Shareholders must document their entitlement to a reduced withholding tax rate by (i) obtaining a certificate of residence issued by the tax authorities in the shareholder's country of residence, confirming that the shareholder is resident in that state and (ii) providing a confirmation from the shareholder that the shareholder is the beneficial owner of the dividend. In addition, Foreign Corporate Shareholders must also present either (i) an approved withholding tax refund application or (ii) an approval from the Norwegian tax authorities confirming that the recipient is entitled to a reduced withholding tax rate or a withholding tax exemption. Such documentation must be provided to either the nominee or the account operator (VPS). Dividends paid to Foreign Shareholders in respect of nominee registered shares are not eligible for reduced treaty withholding tax rate at the time of payment unless the nominee, by agreeing to provide certain information regarding beneficial owner, has obtained approval for reduced treaty withholding tax rate from the Norwegian tax authorities. The withholding obligation lies with the company distributing the dividends and the Company assumes this obligation.

Foreign Individual Shareholders and Foreign Corporate Shareholders who have suffered a higher withholding tax than set out in an applicable tax treaty may apply to the Norwegian tax authorities for a refund of the excess withholding tax deducted. The same will apply to Foreign Corporate Shareholders that have suffered withholding tax although qualifying for the Norwegian participation exemption.

Foreign Shareholders should consult their own advisers regarding the availability of treaty benefits in respect of dividend payments.

8.2.2 Taxation of capital gains

Gains from realisation of Shares by Foreign Shareholders will not be subject to tax in Norway unless the Foreign Shareholders are holding the Shares in connection with business activities carried out in or managed from Norway. Such taxation may be limited according to an applicable tax treaty or other specific regulations.

8.2.3 Net wealth tax

Foreign Shareholders are not subject to Norwegian net wealth tax with respect to the Shares, unless the shareholder is an individual, and the shareholding is effectively connected with a business which the shareholder takes part in or carries out in Norway. Such taxation may be limited according to an applicable tax treaty.

8.2.4 Transfer taxes etc. VAT

No transfer taxes, stamp duty or similar taxes are currently imposed in Norway on purchase, issuance, disposal or redemption of shares. Further, there is no VAT on transfer of shares.

9 SELLING AND TRANSFER RESTRICTIONS

9.1 General

As a consequence of the following restrictions, prospective investors are advised to consult legal counsel prior to making any offer, resale, pledge or other transfer of the Shares admitted to trading on Euronext Growth Oslo.

3. Significant accounting policies

The Accounting policies set out below have been applied consistently for all periods. .

Use of estimates

The management has used estimates and assumptions that have affected assets, liabilities, incomes, expenses and information on potential liabilities in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in Norway.

Foreign currency transactions

Transactions made in foreign currencies are converted to the functional currencies using the exchange rate on the transaction date. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the reporting date are converted to functional currency using the exchange rate on the transaction date. Changes in exchange rates are recognised in the income statement as they occur during the accounting period.

Income tax

The tax charge in the profit and loss account consists of tax payable for the period and the change in deferred tax. Deferred tax is calculated at the tax rate at 22 % on the basis of tax-reducing and tax-increasing temporary differences that exist between accounting and tax values, and the tax loss carried forward at the end of the accounting year. Tax-increasing and tax-reducing temporary differences that reverse or may reverse in the same period are set off and entered net. Deferred tax assets are recorded in the balance sheet when it is more likely than not that the tax assets will be utilized. Taxes payable and deferred taxes are recognised directly in equity to the extent that they relate to equity transactions.

Share based payments

Equity-settled share-based payments are recognised in the income statement as expenses during the vesting period. The financial instrument are measured at fair value at grant date using an opting pricing model.

Classification of balance sheet amounts

Current assets and liabilities include items due for payment within one year of the acquired date. The remaining items are classified as fixed assets/long term liabilities.

Current assets are valued at the lower of cost and fair value. Short term liabilities are recognized at nominal value. Fixed assets are valued at cost, less depreciation and impairment losses. Long term liabilities are recognized at nominal value.

Special periodic surveys

Special periodic surveys (also known as deferred drydock (deferred certification expenditure) are a five yearly thorough inspection and recertification of the hull and machinery components of the rig, which also includes obtaining required maritime certification. The associated costs are amortised on a straight line basis over the period from the month following the end of the completed survey to the month of expiration of the survey certificate. The costs are classified as special periodic surveys within fixed assets. When the associated rig is in operation, these costs are carried by the rig operating company. When the associated rig is cold stacked, these costs are carried by the rig owning company.

Tangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets are capitalized and depreciated over the expected economic life of the asset. The company's tangible fixed assets consist of the Deep Value Driller rig. The rig is componentised, and each component is evaluated for useful life. The components have an estimated useful life of 5-20 years.

Depreciation method, the useful life and residual values are assessed annually. Changes in accounting estimates are recognized in the income statement during the period when the estimates are changed.

Direct maintenance of operating assets is charged under operating expenses, while costs of improvements are added to the cost of the asset and depreciated in line with the asset. If the recoverable amount of the asset is lower than the carrying amount, and impairment is made to the recoverable amount. Recoverable amount is the highest of net sales value and value in use. Value in use is the present value of the future cash flows that the asset is expected to generate.

Accounts receivable and other receivables

Accounts receivables and other current receivables are recorded in the balance sheet at nominal value less provisions for doubtful accounts. Provisions for doubtful accounts are based on an individual assessment of the different receivables. For the remaining receivables, a general provision is estimated based on expected loss.

Cash and cash equivalents

The cash flow statement is presented using the indirect method of accounting. Cash includes cash in hand and at bank. Cash equivalents are short-term liquid investments that can be immediately converted into a known amount of cash and have a maximum term to maturity of 12 months.

Provisions

A provision is recognised when:

- as a result of a past event, there is a legal or constructive obligation.
- It is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, and it can be reliably estimated.

Provisions are considered at each balance sheet date and are adjusted to reflect updated best estimates.

Cash flow statement

The cash flow statement is presented using the indirect method. Cash and cash equivalents includes cash, bank deposits and other short term, highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less.

Marked risk factors

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Directors of Deep Value Driller AS

Report on the audit on a single financial statement

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying interim financial statements of Deep Value Driller AS. The interim financial statements comprise the balance sheet as of 31 March 2021 and statements of income and cash flows for the period from 4 January 2021 to 31 March 2021, and notes to the financial statement, including a summary of significant accounting policies (together the financial statements).

In our opinion, the interim financial statements presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as at 31 March 2021 and the financial performance and cash flows for the period then ended in accordance with the Norwegian Accounting Act and accounting standard and practices generally accepted in Norway in accordance with the financial reporting framework as described in note 1.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with laws, regulations, and auditing standards and practices generally accepted in Norway, including International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statement section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the ethical requirements in Norway that are relevant to our audit, and we have fulfilled our ethical responsibilities as required by law and regulations. We have also complied with our other ethical obligations in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of matter – basis of accounting and restriction on distribution and use

We draw attention to note 1 to the financial statements, which describes the basis of accounting. The financial statements have been prepared for the purpose of admission to trading on Euronext Growth at Oslo Børs (Oslo Stock Exchange).

Responsibilities of management for the financial statement

Management (the Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer) is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in accordance with the basis described in note 1 and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of a financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statement, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting, unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statement

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement as a whole is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of this financial statement.

As part of an audit in accordance with law, regulations and generally accepted auditing principles in Norway, including ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- ▶ identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control;
- ▶ obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control;
- ▶ evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management;
- ▶ conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statement or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern;
- ▶ evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statement, including disclosures, and whether the financial statement represents the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
