

French government supports the development of I.Ceram by awarding a territorial development grant of 705 K€

I.CERAM, specialized in innovative ceramic implants with excellent biocompatibility, has been informed by the Minister of Territorial Cohesion, Mr Jacques MEZARD, that it was awarded a Territorial Development Grant (PAT) in the amount of 705,000 euros to support its development.

This scheme is an investment aid designed to promote the development of companies with job-creating projects and sustainable activities. This grant will support I.CERAM's growth in recruitment and productive investments over the 2018-2020 period. It was awarded by Mr Jacques MEZARD upon the advice of the Interministerial Commission for Assistance with the Localization of Activities (CIALA) and following the proposal of the General Commissariat for Territorial Equality (CGET).

This support from the government demonstrates the soundness of the Group's human resources management strategy and the relevance of its future industrial choices aimed at supporting the deployment of its CERAMIL® implants. With this decision, I.CERAM reinforces its position as a major player in bone replacement and confirms its ambition to become a leader in the treatment of bone infections.
