Audit Report, Annual Accounts to the period
ended December, 31st 2022

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT OF ANNUAL ACCOUNTS

To the Shareholders of IPOSA PROPERTIES SOCIMI, S.A.

Report of the annual accounts

Opinion

We have audited the abbreviated annual accounts of IPOSA PROPERTIES SOCIMI, S.A., which comprises the abbreviated balance sheet at December 31, 2022, the abbreviated profit and loss account and the abbreviated annual report correspondent to the year then ended.

In our opinion, the accompanying abbreviated annual accounts present fairly, in all material respects, the view of the equity and the financial position of the Company as at December 31, 2022, and its earnings for the year then ended, in accordance with the financial reporting framework applicable (identified in the Note 2), and, particularly, with the generally accepted accounting principles and standards applicable contained in the framework.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the audit regulation and standards in force in Spain. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Abbreviated Annual Accounts section of our report.

We are independent of the Company in accordance with the ethical requirements, including those of independence, which are applicable to our audit of the annual accounts according to the auditing regulatory legislation in Spain. In that sense, we have not provided any other services than the audit of the annual accounts, and no situations or circumstances have occurred that, in accordance with the Spanish standards above mentioned, may have affected to the required independence so that it has been committed.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Most relevant matters of the audit

The most relevant matters of the audit are those that, according to our professional judgement, were of most significance in our annual accounts of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the abbreviated annual accounts as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Valuation of Property Investments. Evaluation of possible impairment losses.

The Company is the result of the total split of the mercantile company INMOBILIARIA DEL PASAJE DE OVIEDO, S.A. through the division of its assets in two parts and its transfer to two newly created companies called INMOBILIARIA DEL PASAJE DE OVIEDO, S.L. and IPOSA PROPERTIES SOCIMI, S.A.

At the time of the split an independent expert made an assessment of the non-monetary assets of INMOBILIARIA DEL PASAJE DE OVIEDO, S.A., determining the market value of the property investments managed by IPOSA PROPERTIES SOCIMI, S.A. These property investments are of an urban nature and located in Spain. IPOSA PROPERTIES SOCIMI, S.A. value these assets at their cost, whether by their purchase price or production cost, recording impairment if their market value is lower. The updating of valuations is carried out by independent experts in accordance with the standards and considering specific variables such as lease contracts and assumes certain assumptions regarding variables such as discount rates, estimated market rents and comparable transactions, reaching a final valuation. At December 31, 2022, property investments portfolio is recorded in the abbreviated balance for a net book value of 4,777,645 euros, which represents 57% of its total assets.

We have considered that the estimation of the value and possible impairment losses of the Property Investments represent the most relevant aspect of the audit, due to the significance of the amounts and the relevance and uncertainty associated with the judgments and estimates made.

Our audit procedures to address this aspect included, among others:

- The review of the design and implementation of the relevant controls that mitigate the risks associated with the valuation process of the Property Investments. In particular, we have tested those by which the directors supervise and approve the hiring and the work done by the experts hired for this purpose, as well as that there is no pressure on the result of the work carried out by these experts.
- The evaluation of the facts and circumstances examined to consider the existence of signs of impairment on this type of assets.
- The evaluation of the competence, independence and integrity of the external evaluators.
- The verification of the reasonableness of the procedures and methodology and the performance of selective tests of verification of technical data used and verification of the technical hypotheses used, taking into account the circumstances of the market.
- Finally, we have reviewed the breakdowns made in relation to these aspects, which are included in Note 5 of the enclosed abbreviated annual report, contain the necessary information required by the applicable financial reporting framework in relation to this issue.

Responsibilities of the directors for the abbreviated annual accounts

The directors are responsible for the preparation of these abbreviated annual accounts, so that they express the fair view of the equity, of the financial position and the earnings of the Company, in accordance with the framework of financial information applicable to the entity in Spain, and for such internal control as management deems necessary to enable the preparation of the abbreviated annual accounts that are free of material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the abbreviated annual accounts, the directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as an ongoing organization, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the directors either intend to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the abbreviated annual accounts

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the abbreviated annual accounts as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion.

Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Spanish Law and Standards on Audit will always detect a material misstatement when it exists.

Misstatements can arise from a fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these abbreviated annual accounts.

As a part of an audit in accordance with Spanish Law and Standards on Auditing, we exercise professional judgement and maintain a professional scepticism throughout the planning and performance of the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the abbreviated annual accounts, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the abbreviated annual accounts, and to conclude, based on the audit evidence obtained whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we would mention in our audit report that adequate disclosure is made in the abbreviated annual accounts or, if there were not the right disclosures, we would express a modified opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained until the date of our audit report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the abbreviated annual accounts, including the disclosures, and whether the abbreviated annual accounts represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with the directors of the entity regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Among the significant risks that have been communicated to the Company's directors, we determine those that have been relevant in the audit of the current abbreviated annual accounts and which are, consequently, the most relevant risks.

We describe those risks in our audit report unless legal or statutory requirements prohibit revealing publicly the issue.

4. ACCOUNTING CRITERIA

The main valuation rules used by the Company in the preparation of its Abridged Annual Accounts, pursuant to those established by the Spanish General Accounting Plan, were as follows:

4.1 Property, plant and equipment and real estate investments

These are valued by their cost, whether it be the price of acquisition or the cost of production, which also includes the amount invoiced after deducting any discount or rebate in price, all additional costs and those directly related which arise until their putting into use, such as demolition and levelling, transport, insurance, installation, assembly and other similar costs.

The Company includes in the cost, in view that a timeframe greater than one year is necessary for assets to be in conditions of use, operation or sale, the financial costs related to specific or general financing, directly attributable to acquisition, construction or production.

Also forming part of value is the initial estimation of the current valuation of the obligations taken on arising from stripping or retirement and other actions associated with assets, such as refurbishment costs, when these obligations give rise to the recognition of provisions, as well as the best estimate of the current contingent value amount. However, contingency payments that depend on amounts relating to the carrying out of works are booked as a cost on the Income Statement as and when they occur.

The Company has no commitments referring to stripping, retirement or refurbishment for its assets. For this reason they have not been accounted for in asset values for the coverage of such obligations in the future.

Loss through impairment is registered when its net accounting value is greater than its recoverable amount, which is understood as the greater amount out of its fair value less costs of sale and its value in use or market value.

The Board of Directors of the Company considers the accounting value of the assets is not greater than their recoverable value, nor their market value.

Expenses made during the Financial Year as part of works carried out by the Company are included in the accounts as the relevant cost. Extension or improvement costs that give rise to an increase in productive capacity or an extension of the useful life of an asset, are incorporated into the asset as a greater value. The records of property, plant and equipment under construction are charged by the amount of said costs, credited to the income line item of works carried out by the Company for itself.

Costs relating to major repairs of assets are recognised as replacements when incurred and are depreciated over the period until the next repair, and any amount associated with the repair that might remain in the carrying amount of the aforementioned assets is written-off.

Assets are depreciated on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives from the time they are available for use, estimating a zero residual value based on their years of useful life.

The Company assesses at least at the end of each year whether there is any indication of impairment losses that would reduce the recoverable value or market value of these assets to an amount lower than their carrying amount. If any such an indication exists, the recoverable value or market value of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the possible impairment loss.

If the asset does not generate cash flows that are independent of other assets or groups of assets, the Company shall calculate the recoverable value of the cash-generating unit (CGU) to which the asset belongs.

The recoverable value of assets is the higher of their fair value less sales costs and their value in use.

IPOSA PROPERTIES SOCIMI, S.A.

Value in use is determined on the basis of expected future cash flows arising from the use of the asset, expectations about possible variations in the amount or timing of those flows, the time value of money, the price to be paid for bearing the uncertainty related to the asset and other factors that market participants would consider in measuring the future cash flows related to the asset.

If the recoverable value or estimated market value is lower than the asset's net carrying amount, the corresponding impairment loss is recognised with a charge to the income statement, reducing the asset's carrying amount to its recoverable amount.

Once the impairment loss or its reversal has been recognised, depreciation for the following years is adjusted to the new book value.

However, if the specific circumstances of the assets reveal a loss that is irreversible, the loss is recognised directly in losses in the Income Statement.

In 2022, the Company did not recognise any impairment losses on property, plant and equipment other than investment property.

4.2 Financial assets

- Financial assets at amortised cost

A financial asset is listed in this category even when it is admitted to trading on an organised market, if the Company holds the investment with the goal of receiving the cash flows derived from the execution of the contract, and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. The cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding, are inherent to an agreement that is in the nature of an ordinary or common loan, without prejudice to the transaction being arranged at a zero or below-market interest rate.

This category generally includes trade receivables (financial assets arising from the sale of goods and the rendering of services in connection with business transactions with deferred payment) and non-trade receivables (financial assets which are not equity instruments or derivatives, and therefore are not of commercial origin, and whose collections are of a specific or determinable amount, and which arise from loans or credit granted by the Company). That is to say, this category includes loans and receivables, as well as debt securities with fixed maturities, specific or determinable payments that are traded in an active market, and which the Company intends and is able to hold until their maturity.

- Initial valuation: They are initially assessed at fair value, plus directly attributable transaction costs.

However, trade receivables maturing in less than one year and which do not have an explicit contractual interest rate, as well as staff loans, dividends receivable, and calls for disbursement on equity instruments, whose amount is expected to be received in the short-term, may be measured at their nominal value when the effect of not discounting the flows is not significant.

- Subsequent valuation: they are assessed at amortised cost, and the interests accrued are recorded in the income statement, using the effective interest method.

However, receivables maturing in less than one year which, in accordance with the provisions of the above section, are initially measured by their nominal value, will continue to be measured by said amount, unless they are impaired. Generally, when contractual cash flows of a financial asset are modified due to financial difficulties of the issuing company, the Company analyses whether to proceed to record an impairment loss.

- Impairment: The Company records the corresponding impairments for the difference between the recoverable amount of the receivables, and the carrying amount for which they are recorded.

IPOSA PROPERTIES SOCIMI, S.A.

- Assets at fair value with changes in profit/loss

All financial assets are listed in this category, unless they should be classified under any of the other categories. The financial assets held for trading are included on a compulsory basis in this category.

For equity instruments that are not held for trading or measured at cost, the Company may make the irrevocable election at initial recognition to present subsequent changes in fair value directly in the equity.

In any case, the Company may irrevocably designate a financial asset as measured at fair value with changes in profit/loss at initial recognition, if doing so eliminates or significantly decreases a valuation inconsistency or mismatch.

- Initial valuation: They are assessed at fair value. The directly attributable transaction costs are recorded in the Income Statement for the Financial Year.
- Subsequent valuation: Fair value with changes in profit/loss
- Impairment: They are not impaired as they are measured at fair value at all times, with changes in value being taken to profit/loss for the financial year.

The disposal of the Company's cash is not restricted in any way.

4.3 Net Equity

The share capital is represented by ordinary shares.

The costs of issuing new shares are accounted directly against net equity, as lower reserves.

In the case of acquisition of the Company's own shares, the consideration paid, including any directly attributable incremental costs, are deducted from equity until the shares are cancelled, reissued or sold. When these shares are sold or subsequently reissued, any amount received, net of any directly attributable incremental transaction costs, is included in equity.

At the date of preparation of these Abridged Annual Accounts, the Company's shares are listed on Euronext.

As part of the requirements for the Spanish REITs System, the Company's shares must be admitted to trading on a regulated market or in a multilateral trading system in Spain or in any other country with which there is exchange of tax information with Spain. Likewise, due to the requirements of the aforesaid System, the Company's shares have become registered shares.

4.4 Financial Liabilities

- Financial liabilities at amortised cost

All financial liabilities are listed within this category except when they must be measured at fair value with changes in profit/loss. This category generally includes trade payables and non-trade payables.

Equity loans that are in the nature of an ordinary or common loan shall also be included in this category, without prejudice to the transaction being arranged at a zero or below-market interest rate.

- Initial valuation: They are initially assessed at fair value which, unless there is evidence to the contrary, is the transaction price, which is equivalent to the fair value of the consideration given, plus directly attributable transaction costs.

However, trade payables maturing in less than one year and which do not have a contractual interest rate, as well as disbursements demanded by third parties on investments, whose amount is expected to be paid out in the short-term, are measured at their nominal value when the effect of not discounting the flows is not significant.

- Subsequent valuation: at amortised cost The interests accrued are recorded in the income statement, using the effective interest method. However, payables maturing in less than one year which, in accordance with the section above provisions, are initially measured by their nominal value, will continue to be measured by said amount.

- Guarantees provided and received

The deposits or guarantees provided as security for certain obligations are measured at the amount actually paid, which does not differ significantly from their fair value.

In guarantees provided or received for operating leases or for the rendering of services, the difference between their fair value and the disbursed amount is considered an advance payment or collection for the lease or rendering of the service, which is taken to profit/loss during the lease period or during the service provision period, pursuant to the regulations on income from sales and the provision of services.

When estimating the fair value of the guarantees, the minimum committed contractual period during which the amount cannot be repaid is taken as the remaining period, without taking into account the statistical behaviour of repayment.

In the case of short-term guarantees, it is not necessary to discount cash flows if the effect is not material.

4.5 Provisions and contingent liabilities

Provisions are recognised when the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events; it is probable that an outflow of resources shall be required to settle the obligation and the amount may be reliably estimated.

Provisions are valued at the present value of the expenditures expected to be required to settle the obligation using a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the obligation.

If part of the disbursement required to settle the provision is expected to be reimbursed by a third party, the reimbursement is recognised as a separate asset, provided that its receipt is almost certain.

Contingent liabilities are defined as possible obligations arising from past events, the materialisation of which is conditional upon the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more future events outside the Company's control. These contingent liabilities are not recognised for accounting purposes and details are disclosed in the notes to the Annual Accounts.

4.6 Corporation Tax

4.6.1 General System

The Corporation Tax expense or income comprises the portion relating to current tax expense or income and the portion relating to deferred tax expense or income.

Current tax is the amount paid by the Company as a result of Corporation Tax settlements for a given year. Tax deductions and other tax benefits, excluding tax withholdings and prepayments, and tax loss carry-forwards from previous years that were actually applied in the year result in a lower amount of current tax.

Current tax assets and liabilities are valued at the amounts expected to be paid to or recovered from the tax authorities pursuant to the legislation in force or approved and pending publication at the date of the end of the Financial Year.

IPOSA PROPERTIES SOCIMI, S.A.

Deferred tax expense or income relates to the recognition and settlement of deferred tax assets and liabilities. These include temporary differences identified as the amounts expected to be payable or recoverable arising from differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities and their tax bases, as well as tax loss and tax credit carry-forwards. These amounts are recorded by applying to the temporary difference or credit corresponding to the tax rate at which they are expected to be recovered or settled.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all taxable temporary differences, except those arising from the initial recognition of goodwill or other assets and liabilities in a transaction that affects neither accounting nor taxable profit and is not a business combination.

Deferred tax assets are only recognised to the extent that it is considered probable that the Company shall have future taxable profit against which they can be utilised.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities arising from transactions with a direct charge or credit to equity accounts are also recognised in net equity.

The deferred tax is determined by applying the tax regulations and rates approved or about to be approved at the Balance Sheet date and which are expected to apply when the corresponding deferred tax asset is used or the deferred tax liability is settled.

4.6.2 Spanish REITs System

By virtue of Act 11/2009, of 26th October, as amended by Act 16/2012, of 27th December, regulating Spanish REITs, the companies that meet the requirements defined in the regulations and opt for the application of the special tax system provided for in said Act shall be taxed at a rate of 0% for Corporation Tax. Article 25 of the Consolidated Corporation Tax Act does not apply to the generation of negative tax bases, in the event. In addition, the system of tax credits and tax relief established in Chapters II, III and IV of the aforementioned Act shall not be applicable. For all other matters not provided for in the Spanish REITs Act, the provisions of the Consolidated Corporation Tax Act shall apply on a subsidiary basis.

The Company shall be subject to a special tax of 19% on the full amount of the dividends or shares in profits distributed to shareholders whose stake in the Company's capital is equal to or greater than 5%, if the shareholders themselves are not taxed on these dividends or taxed at a rate of less than 10%. Additionally, the REIT shall be subject to a special tax of 15% on the amount of the profits obtained in the financial year that are not distributed, in the part that comes from income that has not been taxed at the general rate and is not income covered by the reinvestment period. If either or both of these special taxes are applicable, they shall be treated as Corporate Income Tax and must be paid by the REIT within two months from the date of distribution of the dividend.

4.7 Classifying assets and liabilities as current and non-current

Assets and liabilities are presented in the Abridged Balance Sheet classified as current and non-current. For these purposes, assets and liabilities are classified as current when they are linked to the Company's normal operating cycle and are expected to be sold, consumed, assigned or settled in the course of that cycle; they are different from the above and their maturity, disposal or selling is expected to occur within a maximum period of one year. They are held for trading purposes or are cash and cash equivalents whose use is not restricted for a period exceeding one year.

4.8 Income and expenses

The Company recognises income from a contract when control of the goods or services agreed upon with the customers is transferred.

The Company is understood to have transferred control of an asset when the customer simultaneously receives and consumes the benefits provided by the company's activity, as it is carried out by the entity.

IPOSA PROPERTIES SOCIMI, S.A.

The income from the sale of goods and the rendering of services is measured at the monetary value or when applicable, at the fair value of the consideration received or expected to be received, which, unless there is evidence to the contrary, is the agreed price of the assets to be transferred to the customer, less: the amount of any discounts, rebates or similar items that the company may grant; as well as interests incorporated in the face value of receivables. However, the interests incorporated in trade receivables maturing in less than one year and which do not have a contractual interest rate, may be included when the effect of not discounting the cash flows is not material.

The taxes levied on the delivery of goods and rendering of services which the company must pass on to third parties, such as Value Added Tax and special taxes, as well as amounts received on behalf of third parties, do not form part of the income.

Incomes and expenses are recognised on an accrual basis, i.e. when the actual flow of the related goods and services occurs, regardless of when the resulting monetary or financial flow arises.

4.9 Transactions between related parties

In general, transactions between group and related companies are initially recorded at fair value. Where appropriate, if the agreed price differs from the fair value, the difference is recorded on the basis of the economic reality of the transaction. The subsequent valuation is carried out pursuant to the relevant rules.

ABRIDGED EXPLANATORY NOTES FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR ENDED ON 31ST DECEMBER 2022

Subsequently, on 9th May 2019, the Company split the nominal value of the shares into which it divided its share capital by reducing their nominal value to EUR 1.187516 per share, with the consequent multiplication of the number of shares by 426, with no change in the reallocation and share portion.

6.2 Legal Reserve

The Company is obliged to set aside 10% of the profit for the Financial Year to the legal reserve, until this reserve reaches at least 20% of the share capital. As of 31st December 2022, the legal reserve does not reach the legal minimum of 20% of the share capital.

Once the endowments established in the legal provisions and in those of the Articles of Association have been effected, dividends may only be distributed from the profit of the year or from unrestricted reserves if the value of the equity is not or does not become lower than the share capital as a result of the distribution. For these purposes, profits attributed directly to equity may not be distributed, either directly or indirectly. If there are losses from previous years that make the value of the Company's equity lower than the amount of the share capital, the profit shall be used to offset these losses.

8.3 Information on the kind and level of risk arising from financial instruments

The following information, both qualitative and quantitative, is detailed in relation to the different types of risk:

- Market risk: the Company is not exposed to market risks by non-financial assets.
- Exchange rate risk: The Company does not operate internationally and therefore is not exposed to exchange rate risks through foreign exchange transactions. Exchange rate risk arises from recognised assets and liabilities and net investments in foreign operations.
- Credit risk: The Company's financial assets are mainly composed of loans to related companies. The Company believes that it does not have significant credit risk on its financial assets.
- Liquidity risk: The Company carries out prudent liquidity risk management, based on maintaining sufficient cash and availability of financing through a sufficient amount of committed credit facilities and sufficient capacity to liquidate market positions.
- Cash flow and fair value interest rate risk: The Company's interest rate risk arises from long-term and short-term debt. Debt issued at variable rates exposes the Company to cash flow interest rate risk.

By virtue of Act 11/2009, of 26th October, as amended by Act 16/2012, of 27th December, regulating Spanish REITs, the companies that meet the requirements defined in the regulations and opt for the application of the special tax system provided for in said Act shall be taxed at a rate of 0% for Corporation Tax.

Current legislation establishes that taxes cannot be considered to be definitively settled until the tax returns submitted have been inspected by the tax authorities or until the four-year period of prescription has elapsed. The Company Directors do not expect any significant additional liabilities to accrue to the Company as a result of any inspection.

As a result, among others, of the different possible interpretations of the current tax legislation, additional liabilities may arise as a result of an inspection. In any case, the Directors consider that said liabilities, in the event that they were to arise, would not have a material effect on the Abridged Annual Accounts.

The main taxes applicable to the Company are pending inspection by the tax authorities since the financial year 2018, for which the settlement period has elapsed.

Pursuant to the provisions of Article 11 of Act 11/2009, the requested information is included in detail in the Annexe to these Abridged Annual Accounts, amended by Act 16/2012 of 27th December.
