PRESS RELEASE

OVHcloud appoints
Benjamin Revcolevschi as Group's Deputy CEO joining the Executive Committee

Roubaix, 23 April 2024 – OVHcloud, the European Cloud leader, announces the appointment of Benjamin Revcolevschi as Deputy CEO effective from 6 May 2024.

Benjamin will head up all operations both in France and internationally, with a particular focus on innovation, sustainability and the development of new products within our current and future datacenters. He will bring to OVHcloud the expertise required to continue the Group's development.

"We are delighted to welcome Benjamin to the Executive Committee. His vision, overall pragmatic approach and his customer focus will be additional strengths in continuing the rapid development of OVHcloud, helping in successfully executing our strategic plan. The hiring of Benjamin reflects the attractiveness and immense potential of OVHcloud. It's an extremely positive signal in line with our development goals. I would like to join Octave, the Executive Committee and all our employees in welcoming him." said OVHcloud CEO Michel Paulin.

Benjamin is a seasoned leader in the telecommunications and IT sectors. After beginning his career at the Boston Consulting Group, he held operational and business management positions at Neuf Cegetel/SFR before becoming Managing Director of Fujitsu in France. Until recently, he was Head of France and Benelux for the global IT services company DXC Technology. His significant achievements include the creation and development of SFR's cloud business and the successful repositioning of Fujitsu and DXC Technology in the regions he was responsible for. Passionate about innovation, with values, Benjamin is a key player in the current technological landscape and a key asset for OVHcloud.

Benjamin Revcolevschi is a graduate of École Polytechnique, Télécom-Paris and Paris-Dauphine University.

"I'm honoured to be joining OVHcloud and excited about the prospect of working with the Group's 2,900 employees worldwide, who are driven by a unique culture of innovation at the service of its customers. I'm looking forward to helping build a different cloud, one that is ethical, and to taking part in this incredible human adventure." commented Benjamin Revcolevschi.

About OVHcloud
