New CFO appointed

Norsk Renewables has appointed Peter Laszlo Keresztes as new Chief Financial Officer (CFO). He joins Norsk Renewables from the role as CFO in VINDR. "We are excited to announce the appointment of Peter Laszlo Keresztes as our new CFO. His broad experience from other IPPs and a proven track record in financial management makes him well-equipped to contribute to strengthening Norsk Renewables' growth and profitability," says the CEO of Norsk Renewables, Torbjørn Elliot Kirkeby-Garstad. Keresztes has many years of experience in financial and commercial roles from the renewable energy industry, including from companies like Empower New Energy, Alpiq Energy and Vattenfall. Keresztes holds an MBA with specialization in Corporate Finance from London Business School and a master's in science in Chemical Engineering from Chalmers University of Technology in Sweden. "I am very excited to join Norsk Renewables as their new CFO and become part of the company's exciting journey ahead. The company has an exceptionally capable team of employees with a deep commitment towards success, growth and value creation and I very much look forward to contributing towards that, and towards becoming part of the team."

Keresztes will enter the role as CFO from 1 December 2024.
