Editorial

Following the end of the first quarter of the year and the publication of most companies' results the downward trend of single stocks as underlying and increasing trend of indices seems to continue in the same direction. April 2013 sees us almost back to previous levels with 24% on single stocks and 55% on indices in terms of number of transactions and 15% and 55% in terms of value traded.

April 2013 was a record setting month. Leveraged Knock-Out Open-End BEST products now represent nearly 20% of the transactions on Warrants & Certificates across all NYSE Euronext markets. A year ago, these products only represented 4% of the transactions. The number of new listing continues to rise tremendously as a result of the new Warrants & Certificates fee structure for issuers and liquidity providers. While in March 2013 there was already a 30% increase, April 2013 showed another increase of 36% with over 9,000 new listings compared to almost 7,000 new listings the previous month.

In all markets the value traded has significantly increased in April 2013 vs. March 2013: nearly +12% month-on-month. After January 2013, this month-on-month increase is the largest since August 2011. With over 1.3 billion euros traded on Warrants & Certificates, April 2013 has been the most active month since July 2012. On NYSE Euronext Amsterdam the month-on-month value traded increase is even more noticeable at nearly 16% in April 2013 vs. March 2013. We will be watching with interest to see what May 2013 brings in volumes after the ECB has lowered its main rate by 0.25 basis points to a record low of 0.50%.

Also the technical implementation of our new service 'Primary Market for Structured Products' became available in the Production environment on 8th April. This service offers a solution for the subscription to Structured Products instruments which enables member firms to leverage NYSE Euronext's distribution network and technology via a straight-through processing solution for primary and secondary trading, clearing & settlement.
